Bill Drafted To Abolish State Liquor Distribution

Blast At Russian Despotism Assured Quick House Okay

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite demands for tougher language, leaders today predicted quick House approval—with little or no change—of President Eisenhower's denunciation of Soviet "aggressive despotism."

The goal was overwhelming bipartisan support and a hunt was on, in both the Senate and House, for the right words to frame a resolution which would attract such a vote.

Sterner Wording Sought

A hurdle to early Senate consideration developed yesterday in the foreign relations committee. Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) postponed action until next Tuesday while Secretary of State Dulles studies proposals by senators for a stronger and more far-reaching language.

This call for a tougher-talking resolution was echoed in the House. As proposed by Eisenhower, the resolution would reject Russia's enslavement of free peoples through perversion of war-time agreements and would proclaim a hope for liberation of Iron Curtain countries. Some lawmakers urge condemnation of the once-secret agreements themselves and others want to express something stronger than "hope" of freeing Red satellite nations.

Chosen Carefully

The Eisenhower resolution avoids criticism of terms of the agreements negotiated during the World War II administrations of Democratic Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee meets today in a closed session. Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), sponsor of the resolution in the House, predicted approval "with no big changes—maybe no changes at all" in the wording of the document.

Rep. Richards (D-SC), former chairman and now senior Democrat on the committee, agreed in a separate interview.

"It will be passed substantially as is," Richards said. "There may be some little change in phraseology but no change in substance."

Dulles, meeting with both committees in separate sessions yesterday, said the language had been considered carefully by Eisenhower. Dulles said he could think of no changes that would be helpful.

Britain Proposes Pound Stabilizer

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An informed source said today Britain has laid before the U. S. government proposals aimed at "real progress" toward making the pound sterling a freely convertible currency.

The proposals, understood to be hedged with various protective devices, would need U. S. approval and co-operation to become effective. As outlined, they would include:

A dollar fund to stabilize the pound, a plan for pegging prices of free world raw materials, and plans for tightening up on inflation in the British Commonwealth to give the pound a firmer value.

The proposals were sent here in advance of next week's visit by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, the source said. They were described as the heart of talks in which the British hope to lay a foundation for an enduring solution to their economic troubles.

The British pound may now be exchanged for other currencies—converted, that is—only with the consent of the British government. Free convertibility, strongly urged by present U. S. fiscal leaders, would mean allowing free exchange of the pound, at least in current trade.

Influenza Epidemic Hits 100 Eskimos On Diomede Island

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Eskimos on little Diomede Island, struck by an influenza epidemic which left only three of the approximately 100 people on the island on their feet and able to assist the ill, waited today for a mercy plane carrying a doctor, a nurse and a priest.

The epidemic has already claimed the lives of six residents of the island, a barren tuft of land lying in the stormy Bering Strait midway between Alaska and Russia and only three miles from Russian-held Big Diomede Island.

Radio reports received here by Wien-Alaska Airlines headquarters told of the epidemic. The Eskimos, most of them Catholics, pleaded for a doctor and a nurse to aid the ill and for a priest to minister to the dying.

The mercy plane left Nome yesterday.

Snarling Baltimore Gunman, 15, Shoots Two

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Get back copper, I've seen dozens of those tin badges," snarled the gunman.

His two companions stepped aside and he fired twice. One slug wounded an off-duty policeman, Sgt. Otto Urban, and the other struck 12-year-old Evelyn Follin. Neither was hurt seriously.

Sgt. Urban had noticed the three in the alley near the Follin home and went over to investigate.

Police are looking for the snarling gunman.

Sgt. Urban estimates his age at "about 15."

Resort Hotel Burns

LUDINGTON (AP) —Fire Thursday night destroyed the Pleasant Hill Hotel, nine miles north of here on Upper Hamlin Lake. Loss was estimated at $90,000.

Ben Compeau, caretaker who lived in a nearby cottage, awoke to discover the two-story frame structure in flames. He had to travel a mile across the frozen lake to call firemen, who fought the flames for three hours and saved five cottages, a garage and the boathouse. Nothing was left of the resort hotel which accommodated 75 persons.

Farm Leaders Not Worried By Drop In Prices

(Editor's note: This is the last of several stories by Associated Press writer Don Whitehead, touring the cattle country for a re-survey of the price situation. His first such trip, in 1951, was at a time of record beef prices; now prices declines are bringing some demands in Congress for action by the new Eisenhower administration.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—Midwestern farmers have had some of their financial fat scraped off by falling farm prices but their economic situation today is far from approaching disaster.

There appears to be greater farm belt uneasiness over the future than over what already has happened.

The warnings and alarms sounded in Washington could spread across the farm belt with political repercussions against the Republicans should price falls continue. But any undue alarms, at this stage at least, are not reflected in the attitudes of farm leaders and others in the farm country.

Still Prosperous

A trip through this country discloses that farmers generally—while worried over the trend—do not consider themselves disaster victims at this time although they say the safety margin is narrowing.

They aren't trading in their Cadillacs for Chevrolets (although one Texas fur dealer told me he isn't selling as many mink coats to cattlemen's wives as he used to). And there is no panic over the situation.

Time after time, farmers and non-farmers, businessmen and oth-

Dramatic Move Expected From Reds In Berlin

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials consider it entirely probable Russia will undertake one or more dramatic counter moves in Germany as Western plans for bringing West Germany into the anti-Communist defense system reach the decisive stage.

Only the Russians know what maneuvers—military or political—they may undertake. But their stake in trying to block a European Defense Community including West Germany is so great as to make it almost certain they will do something.

May Withdraw Troops

Authorities here have been aware for some days, it was said, that the former chief of the Soviet general staff, General of the Army Sergi M. Shtemenko, has been in Russian occupied East Germany. Apparently they do not know why he is there or whether his presence is connected with whatever steps the Soviet high command may be planning.

Rumors circulated in Berlin yesterday that the Communists, in an effort to regain the political initiative in Germany, might try one or both of two possibilities:

1. The Russians might announce in May that as of June 1 they

Ailing Lansing Treasury Would Get 17 Million

LANSING (AP)—A plan to give the ailing state treasury a $17,000,000 shot in the arm right away and then save it $15,000,000 every year is proposed by Rep. Joseph E. Warner (R-Ypsilanti).

Warner, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is readying a bill which would eliminate state liquor stores and do away with all state liquor distribution and warehousing.

Dealers Pay Freight

This would permit the immediate liquidation of the state's $17,000,000 liquor inventory and permit that money to be poured into the general fund.

Doing away with distribution and warehousing would save another $15,000,000 annually, Warner claims.

In place of the present system under which the liquor dealers order from the state warehouses, they would order directly from the manufacturers, routing their orders through the Liquor Control commission. The dealers, instead of the state, would be required to pay the freight charges.

Markup Not Affected

Warner said his bill would not affect the present 10 per cent markup to package liquor dealers or the 12½ per cent to bars.

Warner would retain the licensing and enforcement functions of the commission, but he is seeking a way to put more of the enforcement responsibility on local authorities.

Price Yardstick Reflects Decline In Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that the cost of living dropped 12 per cent between the middle of December and the middle of January.

The drop is due mainly to lower retail prices for food and clothes.

However, the cost of living in that period still was .7 per cent above what it was one year ago.

The cost of living drop is recorded under a new consumer price index, put out for the first time today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's new yardstick for measuring the cost of living makes its first appearance today and indications were it would reflect a slight price decline.

A 1 per cent decline in food prices was believed sufficient to bring the living-cost level for mid-January down a bit, although keeping it still close to the all-time high.

Samplings Expanded

The new index, several years in preparation, is designed to provide a more delicate and accurate measurement of monthly cost changes for goods and services purchased by city families.

Such indexes put out by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, an agency of the Labor Department, have been long accepted as a living cost barometer.

The new index is patterned after the bureau's prior one, but includes prices on more items and covers samplings in more cities. It includes pricings for the first time of such things as television sets, restaurant meals, legal services and banking fees.

The former index, using the five-year period 1935-39 as a base, reached 191.1 last August. In December it edged down to 190.7, just a fraction off the record.

Today's index reflects the mid-January living cost situation. The index is always a month late, and is a little later than usual this month because of the changeover to the new index.

It thus mirrors the price situation before the new Eisenhower administration took over and started

Raid Leaves Red Center In Ruins

By OLEN CLEMENTS

SEOUL (AP)—Swift U. S. Thunderjet fighter-bombers pounded a huge Communist training center on the Manchurian border today and left it in flaming ruins, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

Pilots said they destroyed 10 buildings and left the sprawling installation smothered in flames. Screening Sabre Jets encountered no Communist Mig fighters.

In frontline sweeps, Marine and Air Force fighter-bomber pilots reported destruction of 26 buildings, three personnel shelters, two sections of a rail bridge and other Red installations.

On the ground, Allied infantrymen drove off seven Communist attacks and killed more than 60 Communists—including 35 members of a balky Chinese patrol.

An Allied unit caught 40 snooping but reluctant Reds in an ambush east of The Hook on the Western Front. A Chinese officer roughed up two squad leaders who hesitated to advance into no-man's land. Allied rifle fire cut down all but five of the Reds.

Russia And India Envoys Named

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated George V. Allen to be ambassador to India and neighboring Nepal, and Livingston T. Merchant to be assistant secretary of state in charge of European affairs.

He also formally submitted to the Senate the nomination of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as ambassador to Russia. Selection of Bohlen for the post was announced by the White House last week. He has been serving as State Department counselor and is an expert on Soviet affairs.

All three men—Allen, Merchant and Bohlen—are career diplomats. Allen has been ambassador to Yugoslavia since 1949 and Merchant is deputy U. S. special representative in Europe, under William H. Draper.

Eisenhower's announcement of the appointments came during the first full day of a brief vacation the President is spending here at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Legislators Advance Measure To Collect August Tax In May

LANSING (AP)—The Higgins Bill to advance the due date of the corporation franchise tax moved another wheel-turn toward passage in the House yesterday, despite a caucus decision to hold it up a week.

The measure slipped quietly through a committee of the whole session without debate. Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron), majority floor leader, moved at the last moment that the final vote be deferred until Wednesday.

Normally the bill would have been up for a vote today.

Conlin Plan Not Dead

There was some speculation that Phillips was having trouble keeping the majority in line with a Republican caucus decision to stall the bill as a club over the head of its sponsor, Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale).

The measure, already approved by the Senate, would give the state $35,000,000 by May 15 to meet the current emergency. Normally the tax is not due until Aug. 15.

There was still a glimmer of hope for the Conlin plan to revise the sales tax diversion and recapture the $5,000,000 Veterans Trust Fund as another means of bolstering the ailing state treasury.

Deadline Past

There were reports that House members were cooking up a new measure to move up the deadline for getting constitutional amendments on the April ballot to March 12.

Then Senate Elections Committee has killed a bill setting the deadline March 2, but the representatives hope to pass the new bill and persuade Lieut. Gov. Clarence A. Reid to refer it to another committee when it reaches the Senate.

The deadline for constitutional amendments has already passed under present law.

Youths Get Life In 10-Cent Theft

DETROIT (AP)—Two teen-aged Detroit youths face the rest of their lives in prison for a burglary-murder which netted them only 10 cents in cash. It took a Recorder's Court jury only an hour and a half to convict them yesterday.

They are Howard Wolff and Stanley Moszkowski, both 17. The prosecution pictured both as members of a teen-aged gang. Judge John A. Ricca said he would pass the mandatory life sentence for first degree murder March 12.

The two were convicted of killing Chester Czernal, an auto parts salesman, who surprised them as they were ransacking his home. Czernal was killed with his own gun, which had been taken, along with shells, as loot.

Czernal left a wife and a four-year-old son.

Senate Applauds Tribute To MSC

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Senate swiftly voted confidence in Michigan State College yesterday, despite MSC's probationary sentence by the Western Conference on a charge of illegal aid to athletes.

In an unprecedented action, the Senate applauded Senator Haskell L. Nicholas (R-Jackson) when he finished with a fiery defense of the college. The resolution of endorsement was sent to committee in the House today.

Nichols said the Big Ten went " 'way beyond the realm of fair play' ".

He said "this should be a challenge to the presidents of the Big Ten schools and to Fritz Crisler H. O. Crisler, (athletic director of the University of Michigan) to come clean and eliminate this spirit of jealousy. Perhaps next week we will go further if we don't hear from them."

Nichols, a Michigan graduate, said "if I had been asked I would have been proud to contribute" to the defunct Spartan Foundation of businessmen which was accused of illegally aiding athletes.

He defended Foundation subscribers as "public spirited," and added:

"When you say it is improper to buy books for a poor boy, how can you let them give room and board to some boy in summer. Is it all right to give a boy a couple of extra tickets to sell? Where do you draw the line?"

Unknown Submarine Seen Off California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A fisherman's report of seeing an unknown submarine surface off the Northern California coast at dusk Tuesday touched off a widespread Navy, Coast Guard and Air Force hunt, the Navy disclosed today.

A Navy spokesman said unknown sub contacts have been reported about once a month over the past year and added:

"There is no reason to assume that foreign submarines are not operating off our coasts. If they are beyond the three-mile limit, there is nothing we can do about it, under international law."

Willie Worked Up

PORTSMOUTH, O. (AP)— William Dillow, 11, was watching a wrestling match of television.

Overcome with excitement by the grunt and groaners, he leaped up and threw a stranglehold on his mother.

Mrs. Betty Dillow, 31, of nearby Vanceburg, Ky., suffered fractured jaws.

Kansas City U. Students Revolt

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A dispute over administration of the University of Kansas City has erupted into a campus-wide controversy, including student boycotts and revolt against the school's president.

An estimated 500 of the university's 1,880 students voted at a mass meeting to boycott classes, at least until noon today when another mass meeting was scheduled.

The Law School faculty voted an expression of "no confidence" in Dr. Clarence R. Decker, university president since 1938. Students circulated petitions declaring a "complete lack of confidence in Dr. Decker and university policies."

President Decker said he believed the problem was twofold:

1. A struggle between personalities who have gotten on each other's nerves.

2. A struggle for power within the university.

Resignation of four top school administrators Wednesday brought the dispute into the open.

Decker termed the resignations a "palace revolution" and told a student mass meeting to judge him "with mercy and wisdom."

Three Firms Affected In Grand Rapids Fire

(By The Associated Press)

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Three of four industrial firms occupying a block square plant here were heavily damaged today by an early morning fire that enveloped two-thirds of the building before being brought under control.

Fire Chief Frank Burns estimated total damage of $100,000. The Ideal Foundry Co., owners of the plant; a branch of the Michigan Wheel Co.; and the Industrial Steel Supply Co. bore the brunt of the loss.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

As Christians we have a high responsibility. It is for us to release in this world the power of God, the peace-descending love of Christ, and thus push back the destroying forces of hate, cruelty, intrigue, and hunger for power, which have had free reign on this earth since World War I.

Christians, we have been asleep! We have allowed ourselves to drift into an easy-going, comfortable, self-first attitude, and yet we have called ourselves disciples of Christ.

Of what value are you to your religion? Do your prayers daily reach the throne of God? Is there in your walk, your talk, anything that sets you apart from the man of the world? Christ wants to know.
—E. S. HJORTLAND

TODAY'S PRAYER

Father In Heaven, help us to live each day as Christians should. Give to our lives a rugged piety, a purity of thought and singleness of motive that will result in strength and beauty of character. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

Stevenson Pleads For Unity At $100 Democratic Dinner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson asked some 1,200 Democratic austerity diners last night to "never sow division when it is so important to harvest unity."

They applauded his plea and also has declaration that "while we may be a defeated party, we are not a beaten party."

"I for one hope and pray that we shall be spared the spectacle of Democratic orators taking a leaf from recent history and mouthing nonsense about 'Eisenhower's War,' " he said. "Rather we stay out of office forever than win it back that way."

This was an apparent reference to Republican cries of "Truman's War" in the last campaign.

Adherents of the defeated Democratic presidential candidate filled the Biltmore Hotel bowl for a "Western States austerity dinner." The $100-a-plate menu included split pea soup, corned beef and cabbage, boiled new potatoes, apple pie with cheese and coffee.

The half-hour speech included a number of quips, which drew laughs, like his reference to Washington, D. C., "now known in the East as 'Homburg Heaven.' "

In a more serious mood, Stevenson said, "Upon the new President have been laid great burdens in a time of peril for us all. As he labors under their crushing weight, he will have our good will, our good wishes, and our prayers...."

Revenue Service Runs Low On Help In Three Districts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews said today "steps have been taken to assure that all necessary functions of the revenue service are carried out."

Andrews made the statement after reports from three revenue districts that funds were running so low agents could not carry out duties involving automobile travel or long-distance telephone calls. The reports came from Birmingham, Ala., Greensboro, N. C., and Albany, N. Y.

Andrews added:

"I want to say that the bureau is aware of these situations which result from restrictions placed on all operating revenue officials so as to assure maximum use of existing funds for the balance of this fiscal year."

Shortcut On Ice Fatal To 2 Boys

MUSKEGON (AP) — A short-cut home from school proved a death-road for two little brothers here yesterday. They were William LeRoy Stowers, 8, and his brother, Robert Nathan, 6.

William and Robert broke through the ice on a creek on the northeastern outskirts. The water was little more than hip-deep on their father, who floundered in and pulled out the oldest, after Tommy Fitzgerald, 6, spread the alarm. But it was far over the heads of the youngsters.

Tommy, instead of taking the icy shortcut, elected to walk a railroad bridge.

When he got home he told his mother his playmates had gone through the ice. She summoned the brothers' father, Nathan Stowers, a factory worker, who was joined by neighbors.

After dragging out William LeRoy, the father broke through, too. But he found he still could stand and reach almost to the bottom. Shortly thereafter, Robert Nathan's body was found. Efforts of Muskegon firemen and Hackley hospital attendants to revive the two proved futile.

Canada Gives Lumber To British Flood Area

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Canada is giving the English enough lumber to repair all of Britain's recently-flooded homes and farm buildings.

The gift of two million board feet of Canadian lumber, worth $200,000, was announced last night by the Canadian Red Cross on behalf of the Canadian National European Flood Relief Committee.

Southwest Site Of Grade School Wins Approval

The Escanaba Board of Education yesterday afternoon met in an informal meeting with Lee Cochran, architect of the Perkins and Will firm, Chicago, and Wm. Clapp, school planning consultant of the Department of Public Instruction, to consider possible sites for the proposed new public elementary and special education school.

It was agreed that the proposed school should be constructed in the southwest section of the city. The city now owns a 7½ acre tract in that area.

The school is estimated to cost $400,000 of which $150,000 is available as a result of the bequest of the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas for special attention. The proposed school would provide facilities for kindergarten through sixth grade classes in addition to special education classes.

A proposal to bond for $250,000 to be financed by a milage increase of three mills will be submitted to the voters in the election April 6. The proposal on the ballot authorizes the levying of three mills for a maximum of 14 years but it is estimated that the bond issue would be liquidated in nine years or less. The authorization for the additional years is recommended to secure the most attractive rate of interest on the outstanding bonds. The levy would not be made beyond the period necessary to liquidate the bonds, however.

The proposal to be submitted to voters provides for the raising of $35,000 per year. The assessed valuation is about $14 million. Thus it is possible to raise the required annual payment with a millage of 2½ mills after a reserve has been established.

The Board of Education indicated that in submitting the proposal for the construction of an elementary school to the voters, it is pursuing one phase of the recommendations made a year ago by the citizens' school advisory committee. At that time a proposal to bond for the construction of a new high school and a 14-room elementary school, with special education facilities, was rejected by the voters.

The school board will meet soon with members of the citizens advisory committee to discuss plans for the school construction program.

Sketch Of Proposed Public Elementary And Special Education School

This artist's drawing submitted by Perkins and Will, Chicago architects, shows the outline of the proposed new public elementary and special education school. A proposal to raise $250,000 by a millage increase of three mills will be submitted to voters in the election April 6. The school will be for grades kindergarten through sixth. The total cost of the construction is estimated at $400,000 but $150,000 is available as a result of the bequest of Mrs. Catherine Bonifas for this purpose.

Home Ec Leaders To Meet Next Week

Ways in which a protective diet may help add life to the years — and perhaps years to the life—will be discussed at a series of meetings of leaders of home economics extension groups during the first week in March.

A meal-planning checker game will be part of each meeting's entertainment. Other features will be pointers on proteins and on encouraging "cooperative" digestions.

Ideas will be presented for refreshments that make every calory count, suitable for friendly snacks when folks drop in.

Later, leaders will relay the discussion to local clubs and will distribute leaflets and recipes to all group members and interested friends.

The series of meetings, all beginning at 1:15 p. m., will take place as follows: Monday, March 2, Gladstone City Hall; Tuesday, March 3, Escanaba Postoffice Building, 3rd floor; Thursday, March 5, Rock High School; Friday, March 6, Garden School.

Obituary

MRS. AMELIA COSTIGAN

The body of Mrs. Amelia Costigan, who died Thursday in Brampton, has been taken to Skradski Funeral Home in Gladstone, where friends may call any time. A rosary will be recited tonight at 8 in the funeral home.

The funeral service will be Saturday morning at 9 in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Perkins. The Rev. Charles Daniel will officiate. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery, Gladstone.

Germfask

GERMFASK — The Home Extension Leaders recreation meeting at Pentland hall was attended by Mrs. Louis Hartman from The Merry Homemakers club and Mrs. Herbert Musselman and Mrs. Harold Lustila from the South Germfask Extension group.

Mrs. Harold Gilman and Mrs. L. Wismer recently entertained at the Community Club recently in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Jacobson. Cards were played and the couple was presented with a set of dishes. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thibadeau are the parents of a baby girl, Nancy Arleen, born Tuesday.

The Cribbage Club met Wednesday evening at the Germfask Community building. Those on the lunch committee were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Musselmans, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heath and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lloyd.

Mrs. Edward Thayer Sr. attended the funeral of her mother, Mrs. George Barber at Long Lake, and will stay for a short visit.

The Merry Homemakers Club recently met at the home of Mrs. Harvey Saunders. Mrs. William Caffey gave a lesson on lighting and lampshade making and Mrs. Louis Hartman gave the lesson on recreation. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Leonard England and Mrs. Louis Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Lawrence and family and Miss Agnes Hudson of Sault Ste. Marie spent the weekend here.

Mrs. Albert Boyd has returned to her home from Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital at Manistique.

Seniors Stage Play March 2-3

A cast of 22 Escanaba Senior High School students will enact John Van Druten's play, "I Remember Mama" in William Oliver Memorial auditorium Monday and Tuesday, March 2 and 3, under direction of John Romstad.

The plot of this play, based on Katherine Forbes' book, "Mama's Bank Account," centers around Mama who, with the help of Papa and Uncle Chris, is rearing a family of four in San Francisco in the early 1900s.

Mama and Papa, played by Nancy Farrell and Gerald Nichol, have come to the United States from Norway to be near Uncle Chris and Mama's three sisters, because she believes families should stick together.

Committee Named

A series of episodes in the play reveal how Mama directs her children's lives into proper channels; sees that the aunts understand the goodness beneath the gruff exterior of Uncle Chris; helps Aunt Trina to marry the man of her choice; watches over crises in her children's lives, and helps Nels become a doctor and Katrin an authoress.

Miss Margaret Kranstover is in charge of scenery for the production here next week; Irwin Wolff is in charge of construction and is technical supervisor; Dennis Foltman is in charge of printing; Dick Stratton is handling lighting, and Mrs. Clara Somers is in charge of the music.

Student committees for the production of the period Comedy are comprised of the following:

Costumes Committee—Ann Aronson, Carol Beggs, Janet Benard, Darlene Carlson, Mary Jo Decker, Donna Farrell, Nancy Farrell, Maxine Fredricksen, Ellen Hakala, Joan Jensen, Ruth Jensen, Nancy Kjellgren, Jo Ann LaCombe, Lucille McPherson, Marlene Seidl, Carol Severinsen.

Nieman Furhouse Sold At Hermansville, Will Be Mattress Factory

HERMANSVILLE — The Herbert A. Nieman company furhouse in Hermansville, this week was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Clare of Pontiac, Mich., for use as a mattress factory, Irwin (Red) Sutherland, manager of the Nieman Hermansville plant said today.

The furhouse, constructed by Nieman and company of Thiensville, Wis., in 1931, is a 3-story brick veneer building 248 feet long and 60 feet wide. It has not been used, except for storage, since the Nieman company dropped out of the fox fur business five years ago because of declining prices.

When Nieman and company raised foxes on its 100-forty ranch three miles from Hermansville, the animals were pelted in this furhouse. During the last years of the Nieman fur operations in Hermansville an average of 45,000 foxes were pelted each fall. About 90 people were employed in the operation.

Sutherland said today the new owners plan to move their mattress factory from Pontiac to Hermansville.

The Nieman company now operates a cold storage plant at its Hermansville ranch, freezing green beans and fish. Last summer the company froze about 800,000 pounds of green beans and this winter 500,000 pounds of herring have been frozen. The company next year plans to contract for 200 acres of green beans in Menominee county, Sutherland stated today.

STOMACH TROUBLE RELIEVED IN ONE WEEK BY O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"I suffered for eight years with heartburn, gas, indigestion and stomach trouble. Two months ago I discovered what O-JIB-WA BITTERS can do," says Mr. Fred A. Crews, 396 Ferry Ave., Pontiac, Michigan, another firm believer in O-JIB-WA BITTERS because he has experienced first hand results using it.

Mr. F. Crews

"I have been taking O-JIB-WA BITTERS for about two months and can truthfully say that nothing has helped me so much as this wonderful medicine. Before I started using O-JIB-WA, I suffered eight years with stomach trouble which bothered me so much that it was almost impossible to sleep. I had very little appetite and that was an ailment in itself, because who doesn't like to eat a good square meal. But, those days are gone for me since I have been using O-JIB-WA BITTERS. Just one week after I started taking it, I could feel that my troubles were over. I can get all of the sleep I need and can eat just about anything again. I'm 60 years old but feel like a young man now. I would gladly recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS to anyone who has the same troubles that I had."

Board Of Review Meets In March

The Escanaba Board of Review, whose duty it is to review the tax assessment roll and make such corrections it deems justified, will meet in City Hall next month, it was announced today by Charles L. Schmidt, city assessor.

Comprising the Board of Review are Mayor Robert E. LeMire, Supervisors L. J. Jacobs, Carl B. Johnson and Charles Priester, and the city assessor.

First meeting of the Board of Review, for the purpose of organizing and reviewing the assessment roll, will be held March 3 and 4.

Hearing March 9-10

The second meeting of the Board of Review, at which individual claims for valuation adjustments will be heard, will be held March 9 and 10 in City Hall.

On each day the Board of Review will be in session from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 1:30 p. m. to 5 p. m.

At these sessions the Board of Review will, at the request of any property owner or his agent, when sufficient cause is shown, "correct the assessment as to such property, in such manner as in their judgment will make the valuation thereof relatively just and equal."

To that end the Board may examine on oath the person making such application, or other persons touching on the matter.

10 Per Cent For County

Assessed valuations will be increased 10 per cent on all taxable property in Escanaba, Gladstone and the townships by action of the Delta County Board of Supervisors.

The Supervisors in their annual budget meeting last October ordered all assessors in the county to increase the assessments 10 per cent for the year 1953. This was done to eliminate an expected county deficit of $25,000.

Under the state laws providing for veterans' and servicemens' property tax exemptions, real property of veterans, their widows, and servicemen will be entitled to exemption from the general property tax under certain conditions.

Tax Exemptions

There are two limitations on the amount of tax exempted: First—The exemption applies only to homes and only to the first $2,000 of assessed valuation of such homes in all cases; Second—None of the exemptions apply to any person who is the owner of taxable property, both real and personal, of greater value than $7,500.

Persons who wish to obtain an exemption must each year file with the Assessor an affidavit showing that he or she possesses the statutory qualifications. The filing must be done before the final adjournment of the Board of Review.

Several changes have been made by the legislature in the general property tax law, increasing certain personal property exemptions.

The law provides no exemptions for widows as such, except for widows of veterans who have not remarried.

Salary Raise Sought By Escanaba City Employes

Committees representing two groups of Escanaba city employes have requested wage increases and other requests are expected to be received soon, City Manager A. V. Aronson reported today.

The manager said that when salary adjustments are sought, all of the city employes must be given consideration. Escanaba now employs about 171 persons at the lowest employment period of the year. The average number of city employes is approximately 200.

The city in 1952 paid out a total of $560,000 in salaries.

Firemen Ask 10% Raise

This morning the city manager met with a committee representing employes of the Fire Department. The committee comprises James Olson, Vernon Neumann, John Kirkpatrick and George Erdman.

The firemen are seeking a salary increase of 10 per cent, plus additional increment for firemen who drive the trucks. At present the firemen who operate the trucks receive $5 more per month.

City Council previously approved a work schedule for firemen, effective July 1, reducing their on-the-job time to 70 hours a week. This will require the addition of two firemen.

Request Considered

The hiring of one additional officer for the police department also is scheduled for July 1, which will increase the salary budget for the two departments by $10,000.

Other city employes represented by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes Union are asking 10 cents an hour salary increase. They were represented by John DeChantal and John Huff at a meeting with the city manager on Monday.

Further discussion with these representatives in scheduled in connection the wage rate for equipment operators employed in the public works department.

Representatives of city employes in the electrical union and a committee of policemen also are expected to bring in requests for salary raises, the city manager reported.

Compromise Seen

City Manager Aronson indicated that anticipated city revenue will not be sufficient to meet the requested salary raises and that a compromise to bring the requests within the scope of the city's ability to pay will have to be worked out.

There will be some additional tax revenue to the city as the result of a 10 per cent boost in assessed valuations on property in the city by the Delta County Board of Supervisors. The County Board increased the valuations for the whole county to offset an anticipated $25,000 county deficit.

At the present time the city is levying 2.5 mills for a street improvement program. Should this be removed, as some citizens have requested, the city would not have sufficient funds for both salary increases and to finance the city's share of the street program, the city manager pointed out.

The salary discussions will continue with the manager and the Civil Service Commission, resulting in recommendations to the City Council.

Soviet Silence Bogs Down UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Bogged down by Soviet silence, delegates to the United Nations Political Committee took off today for an enforced three-day weekend.

All were awaiting Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's promised reply to U. S. charges that the Russians started the Korean war, are prolonging it with military assistance to the Reds and could end it whenever they wanted to.

With the U. N. allies holding firm to a no-compromise stand on acceptable peace terms in Korea, the emerging Western strategy appeared to be to place squarely on the Soviet Union the whole responsibility for prolonging the war or bringing it to a quick end.

Vishinsky stayed away from all subsequent meetings after announcing Wednesday he accepted the challenge by chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., to disprove the American charges.

Angry diplomats yesterday accused the Soviet head man of contempt and of keeping a "studied silence" while the world waited to know whether he had any constructive proposal for meeting the U. N.'s Korean peace terms.

There was no indication when Vishinsky would be ready to address the committee, but Poland's Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzeszewski said he would talk Monday.

Daring Nude Movie Approved In Britain

LONDON (AP)— Britain's usually strait-laced film censorship board has decided to approve a nude swimming scene in a Swedish movie because it is "beautiful and childlike." Even children can see it—if an adult is with them.

The movie is "One Summer of Happiness," which opens here next Wednesday.

The stars are pretty little Ulla Jacobson and handsome Folke Sundquist, both 22.

The movie is a simple pastoral tale of a modern Romeo and Juliet whose romance is wrecked by their parents. In one scene, the young couple are sitting together on the shore of a lake when on an impulse they strip, run into the lake and embrace in the water.

Critics who have seen a preview of the film say the scene is the most daring since Hedy Lamarr exposed her charms in the Czech movie "Ecstasy."

The state of Washington has an Indian population of 15,370.

Legislature Should Open State Relief Rolls To Public Security

SHOULD welfare rolls be open to public scrutiny?

This issue is before the Michigan Legislature again and it almost certainly will bring a heated controversy before a decision is reached.

Professional social welfare workers generally are opposed to public scrutiny of welfare rolls. They say it puts the welfare client to embarrassment. The welfare workers don't say it, but secrecy also permits overloading of relief rolls and gives the welfare chiseler a curtain to hide behind.

The states that have revised their own welfare rules to permit public inspection of relief rolls have found absolutely no substance to the claim that public inspection degrades the relief client. Neither have they found any instances where anyone took advantage of their right to inspect welfare rolls and utilized this information to adversely affect the legitimate welfare client.

But public inspection of welfare rolls has materially decreased the welfare load and for that reason alone, the change is in the public interest.

The welfare workers, opposing public inspection, paint a hideous picture of newspaper publication of relief rolls. Bah! No newspaper has the space or the desire to utilize its available space to the publication of a list of relief clients.

The lawmakers of Michigan, trying to figure economies to help meet the burden of government expenses, should not delay any longer in opening the welfare rolls of Michigan to public inspection, as they are now in Indiana and Illinois.

Ike's Not Awed By White House

ONE of the remarkable things about the White House is the way it is made livable by a succession of families so strikingly different in personality, habit, tastes and interests.

For all its imposing formality, the place is often most informal. Possibly it will never again reach the level of informality it attained in Theodore Roosevelt's day, when a pony rode upstairs in the White House elevator to cheer up one of the President's sons.

But the new occupant, Mr. Eisenhower, is doing his bit to make the official residence a human abode. Every now and then he slips out onto the lawn to slap some golf balls.

His golf antics put the lawn to more use than it's had from a dozen annual Easter egg rollings. The people who put him there must be glad the President declines to be frightened by the place.

Red Cross County Quota Is $19,987

DELTA County's Red Cross quota for the 1953 campaign in a hefty one, $19,937 an increase of 25% over the 1952 goal. Yes, it is a sizeable objective and one which will be a real challenge to the citizens of the county and to the corps of solicitors.

The work that the Red Cross is doing on many fronts, at home, in emergency relief, in fighting disease and in military programs is important, essential work. In most cases, only the Red Cross is capable of doing these chores. The number of lives saved and the number of persons assisted by Red Cross activities numbers into the millions, all over the world. It is work that has to be done.

It is up to Americans to provide the funds that must be secured so that the Red Cross can do the things it is called upon to do.

Answer the call!

collective nouns—M. W. W., Milwaukee, Wisc.—In the sentences you have submitted, both couple and team are collective nouns and, therefore, may take verbs in the singular or the plural according to the view of the speaker. If he thinks of couple or team as composed of two separate members, he will use a plural verb; but if he thinks of each as constituting one unit, he will use a singular verb. If the latter, he would say, "The young couple is living in New York," "The team is grazing beside the road," and "The team is entirely paid for."

Messrs.—R. H., Windsor, Can.—The title Messrs. is properly used in addressing a legal or other business partnership—as, Messrs. Jones and Smith, Atorneys-at-law—but is not used before a business organization or a corporation. Your preferred address, then, should be, Robert Hart & Co., not Messrs. Robert Hart & Co.

ski—S. O. S., Reno, Nevada—Although in both Norway and Sweden the work ski is pronounced as if spelled shee, the only pronunciation used in the United States is skee. When used as a verb, the past tense, skied, is pronounced skeed. In England, skee is the usual pronunciation, but shee is sometimes heard.

spoonfuls—R. S. C., Buffalo, N. Y.—The plural of spoonful is formed regularly—by a treminal s added to the singular. Thus there are 32 tablespoonfuls of liquid in a pint. Or you could fill 32 tablespoons, and your statement would then be, "There are 32 full tablespoons of liquid in a pint," rather than the awkward, "There are 32 tablespoons full of liquid."

ARE FEDERAL EMPLOYES LAZY?
(Milwaukee Journal)

Are government employes more lazy or inefficient than workers in private employment? The National Civil Service league asked that not long ago of 200 business executives who had served in government.

The answer was "No." Government personnel, most of the executives answered, is the equal of, and frequently superior to, personnel in private business. Government, they said, has hundreds of workers of superior competence who could find places at higher salaries in private business.

Are government bureaus themselves inclined to be inefficient? The answer there was "Yes."

This should be valuable information to those who think that the answer to efficiency in government is to "throw the rascals out" or declare war on those on government pay rolls on the grounds that they are lazy, incompetent and unworthy.

It's not new information. The Hoover commission studies showed the same thing. Men experienced in government have long known that it was the system and not the personnel that was to blame for red tape and inefficiency. Those who have worked with government are impressed with the high caliber of many of the career workers they meet.

The basic trouble is that competence in government is too often hobbled by bad personnel management and administrative techniques. A civil service system created to overcome the spoils system has remained geared to that job to the exclusion of almost everything else. It has not felt responsible enough for adopting techniques aimed at cutting red tape and getting the most out of personnel.

It's hard to believe that space has no limits when you watch a man's wife try to back a car into a parking spot.

When a man purposely marries for money it's a pretty good indication of what he's really worth.

Cats Gain Wide 'Prominence As Cause of Scratch Disease

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Perhaps it is hardly correct to speak of a disease as "new" when it has been known for 20 years. Nevertheless, although this is the case, I should wager that very few readers of this column have ever paid any attention to a condition known as cat-scratch disease.

In the past 20 years several hundred cases have been described in Europe and the United States. Recently, a review of 60 cases of cat-scratch disease has been published in one of our medical journals. Of this number more than half the cases gave a history of having been scratched by a cat, and in only five was there no known contact with cats.

There appears to be a period if about three to seven days between the time of the scratch, or original injury, and inflammation at the place where it occurred. This is followed by a further delay of somewhere around two weks before the appearance of the typical sign, which consists of enlargement of some of the lymph glands, draining the area originally injured.

Most commonly, it would appear that the glands in the armpit are involved, and this is not surprising since one would expect the hands or arms to be scratched more often than any other part of the body.

About two-thirds of the patients afflicted with cat-scratch disease have fever, some of them have general symptoms, as well—such as headache, weakness, aching, chilly sensations and the like.

The outlook for someone who has cat-scratch disease is good. In most the illness is short and mild, though the lymph glands may be enlarged and possibly contain pus for months. The cause of this disease, however, has not been discovered, but does not seem to be a germ, parasite or fungus. It is possibly caused by a virus.

SKIN TEST IS USED

A skin test has been devised which seems to be rather accurate in making a diagnosis. This is important, since cat-scratch disease can be confused with many other conditions in which there is enlargement of the lymph glands.

The greater recognition which is being given to this disease now certainly does not mean that people who own cats should give up their pets. But since this is recognized as being a rather common, widespread and frequently undiagnosed condition, more care to avoid scratching by cats or other too-intimate contact with these animals, and watchfulness, particularly over children who might acquire this disease, is certainly in order.

All the signs point to the likelihood that we shall hear much more of cat-scratch disease over the next few years.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower tweaked Republican senators at a private luncheon recently for blocking some of the budget cuts they clamor so loudly for. As fast as extravagances can be weeded out of the budget, Ike chided, "they tell me you fellows try to keep them in."

Ike confessed to the economy-minded Republicans that he was "just beginning to see the justification" for many federal expenses. He firmly added, however, that "we will have to get on top of government operations" in order to cut costs. But it will be a tough job, he predicted, "to find the places and do it."

The President started off the luncheon by promising not to "talk shop."

"I know you get tired of talking shop," he grinned. Then he turned to Iowa's Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper on his right and got into a discussion of pheasant shooting in Iowa. This brought up the question of storing the downed pheasants, and Idaho's Sen. Henry Dworshak cracked: "Do you still have Harry's deep freeze?"

Ike ducked slightly at this reference to the deep freeze that Harry Vaughan got from a Wisconsin lobbyist for Mrs. Truman. However, Minnesota's Sen. Ed Thye soon got the conversation off trivialities and onto Eisenhower's controversial secretary of agriculture. The Minnesota chicken-farming senator told about a speech he had made on the senate floor, slightly critical of Secretary Benson but at the same time refuting "the impression the Democrats are trying to make that the cattle drop is the result of the Republicans."

"The fundamental difficulty," the President broke in, "is that we have the largest cattle population we have ever had."

As for his secretary of agriculture, Eisenhower added: "Every time I see Benson, I am impressed by his tremendous sincerity."

The President acknowledged, however, that it takes more than the right program.

"We must present it to the people so they understand what we are doing," re declared.

Meanwhile, Ike indicated that he has plenty of problems to go around.

"Some of my people come up to me with a problem," he said. "'That is one of your problems,' I tell them. 'You send out the answer.'"

Note—The President took time out to show the senators some of his watercolors. He found it difficult to paint now, he said, "with guards always looking over my shoulder."

GRIM WHITE HOUSE BRIEFING

Exactly what happened inside the White Huse when a group of congressional leaders were briefed on the international situation has had the world guessing ever since. Just why did senators emerge from the White House to pronounce the state of the world "grim."

Briefly here are the nonsecurity highlights of what the congressional leaders were told:

1. The Chief Friction Point Is Berlin. Intelligence Chief Allen Dulles, brother of the Secretary of State, warned that the Communist party might try to squeeze us out of Berlin this spring. Dulles could not predict whether they would try to choke us off with another blockade or send East Germans into the west sector to stage serious riots. However, he warned that trouble was coming. Meanwhile, the Air Force has a master plan ready for another Berlin airlift to be used at the drop of the Red flag.

2. Drive In French Indo-China. The congressmen were told that the Kremlin was likely to hit the West in several places at the same time, and one of these, according to Allen Dulles, is French Indo-China. Russian and Chinese leaders, he said, had been conferring on this recently.

General Bradley, however, claimed the Chinese didn't have a large army on the Indo-Chinese border, though he said guerrillas and supplies did seem to be pouring into Indo-China. As a countermove Dulles urged that American supplies be stepped up to aid the French. The French, he said, were asking for a 5-year plan during which we would send half a billion dollars worth of supplies each year to Indo-China.

This brought an exclamation of surprise and incredulity from Sen. Alex Wiley, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

MILLION-MAN CHINESE ARMY

3. A Communist Drive On Korea. General Bradley reported, was not to be discounted. The Chinese are using a new rotation plan and have put two new divisions in the front lines. Unfortunately, lifting the embargo around Formosa hasn't drawn any Chinese troops out of Korea to defend the mainland opposite Formosa. The Chinese Communist force in Korea remains one million men.

On the other hand, the United Nations has 10 per cent more American troops in Korea today than on January 1. The reason, Bradley said, is because other U. N. units had to be rotated. Any big U. N. drive in Korea, the congressmen were warned, would cost us total casualties of around 50,000 men and would not be possible without sending more American divisions to the front.

Wonderful Dutch:

Brave Holland's Big Need Is For More Trade And Less Population

By WADE JONES

THE HAGUE —(NEA)—A Hollander's idea of heaven is a little plot above the clouds, with canals and windmills and tulips, where there are fewer trade barriers between nations than here on earth, and considerably fewer Dutchmen.

Holland historically has lived by and for world trade, and trade she must. Her economy depends on a steady and sizable flow of it.

For that reason she is a determined champion of movements toward an economically and politically unified Europe. As one step in preparation, the study of English, French and German is compulsory in secondary schools.

During the war, when she was occupied by Germany and her trade with the world was virtually strangled, she went into a decline from which it took her seven years to emerge. Of course, there were other factors besides loss of trade involved. But tradewise she was hurt badly.

For this reason, Holland has been a leader in the Benelux agreement which has erased customs and tariff barriers between herself, Belgium and Luxembourg, and seeks also to remove all quantitative restrictions on the free flow of goods between the three countries.

But Holland has another problem. It's that of too many Dutchmen. Such a statement has tragic irony, in view of the hundreds of Dutch lives lost in the recent floods. But it's true. Overpopulation—or more exactly a too rapid increase in population—is one of the biggest economic problems the country is faced with.

Consider the fact that the total area of Holland is 15,450 square miles, with 2600 of that water. Yet in this little area, only about half again as large as the state of Maryland, live more than 10 million people.

Statisticians say if the United States had the same population density, it would have about three billion people, or more than there are in the whole world.

Compared with many other European countries, Holland's population increase has been little short of phenomenal. Her numbers jumped from 8.7 million in 1939 to 10.2 million in 1951, and they're still zooming.

But in the same period neighboring Belgium rose only from 8.3 million to 8.6 million. France crept up from 41.3 million to 42.2 lion to 50.2 million.

This unusually rapid growth of Dutch population is due in part to their natural fertility —they're about as reproductive as they are productive. Also, Holland's excellent health program gives her people possibly the greatest life expectancy of any in the world, according to medical authorities. The average Dutch woman can expect to live 71.5 years. For men the figure is 69.5.

Plus those factors are the "baby bonuses" paid to parents and the fact that Holland has a large Catholic population which wields a strong influence both in and out of the government against measures which might curtail birth increases.

Holland's efforts to solve her overpopulation problem have been along two main lines. One is a program of industrial expansion which will provide more jobs in factories. A special government group has been set up to develop such a program.

The other is to encourage emigration. This is done mostly by a system of financial aid to those who will leave Holland to work out their lives in other countries. Since the war some 100,000 Dutch have gone to live in other countries, mostly Canada, New Zealand and Australia.

One of the methods the Dutch government has taken to insure expansion of industry is seen in the steel business. The government has invested its own funds in the stock of steel companies to assist them in expanding.

Dutch railroads are nationalized and about half of the coal mines are government owned. The postal service is nationalized, gas and electric power is municipally owned, and about 75 per cent of the important and extensive waterways system is under direction of either municipalities or provinces.

But thus far the combined emigration and industrialization programs have failed to check appreciably the overpopulation problem and the resultant problem of unemployment.

The number of unemployed has been increasing at the rate of about 20,000 annually in the last few years. The total now stands at 165,000, or 4.5 per cent of the country's entire labor force. And that's in what—until the floods—were "boom" times.

White collar workers have been hard hit in the unemployment situation and many of the men you see in various towns, working on dikes or raking leaves, wear nice-looking overcoats and hats and handle their shovels and rakes awkwardly. They're "on relief."

But their morale is remarkably high. They believe in their government and they know it has pulled them out of some bad holes in the past by the shrewdest kind of planning and vision. They are looking to it now to come through again.

The disastrous situation produced by the floods has been a tremendous blow to the country, coming as it did just after she had shown the first surplus in her balance of payments with other countries since the end of the war.

Nobody here yet knows, or will even make an official estimate, of the total flood cost in terms of actual damage, loss of productive power, and ability to maintain the country's vital exports. Unofficial estimates have ranged from an amount equal to Holland's entire budget for 1953 down to a quarter of that.

The people of Holland would like very much to handle the situation themselves, but it's almost certain that they can't.

Aid of various kinds already is pouring into the country in streams from all over the world. And, if Holland has to have it, there will undoubtedly be more where that came from. The brave and wonderful Dutch deserve all the help they get.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE BABY SITTER—One of the more lucrative sources of income for teen-age girls is the job of babysitting, in which they sit with the babies (for a price) while the parents go out for an evening.

There is a code of conduct generally recognized by the sitter and her employer, but there is no standardization of wages.

Generally the baby-sitter receives 25 cents an hour before midnight, 50 cents an hour after midnight. This is subject to change, however, and increases according to the value the employer places upon the service of a tried and trusted girl.

The baby-sitter comes in various qualities, ranging from good to poor, depending upon how conscientiously she does her work of sitting. In the majority they are dependable and faithful to their charge.

UNDERSTANDING — Chief complaint among the sitters is the failure of the employer to establish what is expected of them.

All too often the lady of the house asks the girl to come early in the evening. The employer leads the youngster to the kitchen and requests that she do up the dinner dishes.

When this chore is completed, the sitter is told to bathe the children, read to them, and then put them to bed.

Meanwhile the lady completes her preparations to go out for the evening and then rushes away, forgetting to leave her telephone number or tell the sitter where to call in event she is needed.

For her work and responsbiility the sitter receives 25 cents an hour, which is low pay for a combination dishwasher and nurse.

THE LITTLE THINGS—Baby-sitters also complain that employers too often regard them with suspicion.

They warn the sitter not to use the telephone, not to have her friends in, not to raid the ice box, not to play the radio. Then before the evening is over the employer just "happens" to drop in suddenly to see if the sitter is behaving as she should.

Most baby-sitters would welcome an opportunity to play the radio and to have a bite to eat during the evening. The wise employer will put out fruit, candy, or cake and invite the sitter to eat. The radio may be played if it is turned low.

Some women who have difficulty in persuading girls to baby-sit for them may find the answer in their own uncooperative attitude.

RESPONSIBILITY — The conscientious baby-sitter should understand that her time—from the moment she enters the employer's house until she leaves—belongs to her employer.

She is being paid to care for the children. It is her first responsibility. To this end she supervises their bath, reads to them, puts them to bed.

Once they are in bed she becomes the nightwatch, alert to any danger that may threaten, ready to save the children from fire—or to soothe them back to sleep if they should awaken.

Many are the stories about the cruel and neglectful baby-sitter, but equally numerous are the stories of her heroism when danger threatens the children in her care.

THE GREATEST FAULT—Most employers refuse to permit the baby-sitter to have company during the evening, except it be a girl-friend they know.

Nothing so enrages the employer as to find evidence that the baby-sitter has thrown a party for her friends in their house while they are away. This they will not forgive.

Unauthorized raids on the refrigerator, scolding or otherwise punishing the children, and turning on all of the lights in the house for the night are other causes for complaint by the employer.

For all of the difficulties involved, however, the relationship of the baby-sitter and the employer is usually cordial. Certainly parents of young children are grateful for the service the sitter provides.

Swiss Scent Man Creates Whiff Of Ripe Raspberries

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

When you cut into a juicy sirloin steak, which is the most important, taste or smell?

When you eat a ripe, red raspberry, what does it taste like?

When you whiff the scent of an exotic perfume, why do you like it, and how would you describe the fragrance?

These are questions which engage the attention of Dr. Max Stoll, internationally known Swiss chemist. He has just arrived in the United States to receive the 1953 Fritzsche Award from the American Chemical Society for his work in the field of essential oils and related chemicals.

Tastes Analyzed

The ruddy, silver-haired scientist, chief of the research department of Firmenich et Cie, Swiss aromatic chemical firm, has spent most of his adult years analyzing what makes a certain taste and what are the essential ingredients of a certain scent—then reproducing them synthetically.

His two most recent triumphs are production of synthetic ambergris, one of the essential ingredients in perfume, and the essence of fresh raspberry flavor, for use in the food industry. He says:

"Any natural flavor can be reproduced synthetically, if first the natural product is analyzed and broken down into its component parts, and then these are reproduced scientifically.

"It is important, of course, to decide which components are essential to the flavor, and which may be eliminated. The object is to achieve a synthetic product which is better than the original, because it retains the best qualities and characteristic flavor of the natural food but does not vary in quality or strength."

Task Takes 26 Years

Dr. Stoll worked 26 years—from 1924 to 1950, to produce synthetic ambergris. It took 11 years to create the essence of the raspberry.

The Swiss firm, with offices also in New York, manufactures the essential oils for many of the world's great perfume and cosmetics houses, and the flavor essences used in thousands of processed foods.

If a certain canned or bottled sauce has a particularly distinctive flavor, it probably is because Dr. Stoll and his staff have isolated and intensified the essential flavor of a certain spice or extract used in its manufacture.

He makes a synthetic pepper, for instance, which has 30,000 times the strength of the natural product. A pinch of it in its pure state would paralyze the taste buds.

This super-critic of scents incidentally, doesn't like his own wife to wear perfume. He says:

"I have to work with perfumes all day, so when I come home it's no treat to me."

Adjust Your Own Schedule To Baby's In First Months

EDITOR'S NOTE: For new mothers—and new mothers-to-be—nothing is more reassuring than the wisdom of experienced mothers. Here's the second of 6 articles of just such wisdom, written by a mother whose own mother is a well-known child-care specialist. The articles are condensed from 'Parents' Magazine Book of Baby Care," a mother's guide to the first six years by Eleanor S. Duncan with the counsel of Clara Savage Littledale, editor of Parents' Magazine, published by McGraw Hill Book Co., Inc.

By ELEANOR S. DUNCAN

There has been some confusion about the self-demand schedule, and some misgivings on the part of young parents who see their own eating and sleeping and work schedules hopelessly disrupted. Perhaps enough emphasis has not been placed on transferring from self-demand to the more scheduled living necessary for the baby's happiness at later stages. Yet this transition is not hard to make.

The purpose of self-demand, we must remember, is to ease the baby's adjustment to the outside world. A wealth of experience has now shown that babies are happier when their individual needs are taken into account. They cry less—though some crying is always to be expected. They start sleeping through the night at an earlier age

And it is interesting to note that as they become adjusted to the new environment, which is evidenced by contentment most of the time, they begin of their own accord to regularize their hours for eating and sleeping.

Regular Pattern

It is wise, therefore, to adjust your own schedule at first to the baby's irregular—and perhaps seemingly constant—demands. But presently you will observe a regular pattern emerging. With a great many babies, this happens around the third month. But it takes some infants a longer time, others a shorter time.

Also, it happens differently with different babies. We do not advise, therefore, that you clamp your baby into a rigid schedule the moment he begins to eat and sleep by a fairly regular pattern. But you can help him to adjust his schedule to that of the family.

You would hardly be human if you weren't looking forward to the time when your baby will sleep through the night. Babies, too, like to get a good night's sleep (in spite of that week or so when they experiment with sleeping all day and wanting to be amused all night) and they gradually work toward eliminating their middle-of-the-night meal.

At first, it's best to adjust your own schedule to the baby's irregular feeding demands.

May Be Changed

Your infant may suddenly decide to sleep from 10 p. m. until 6 a. m., and that will be that; or he may start taking his 10 p. m. feeding later and later until it merges with the one in the middle of the night. In such a case, you are justified in waking him around 10 p. m. or so to fill him up for the night. Another child delays his 2 a. m. feeding a little more each night until it runs into breakfast time. Let him do this his own way.

If it looks as if his own pattern, as it emerges, won't be practical for either of you, you can guide him to a more satisfactory arrangement.

For instance, if he seems fond of a too-early supper, which in turn leads him to want breakfast at the crack of dawn, try playing with him and rocking him for as long as he is happy, thus delaying his supper. Within a few days, you can, in this way, switch him from, let us say, a 4:30 supper to 5:30 or later.

Change Is Made In St. Stephen School Schedule

The Church School at St. Stephen Episcopal church will meet at the same time as the regular church service, at 10:45 a. m., beginning Sunday, March 1, Rev. Joseph S. Dickson, pastor, announces.

Children in kindergarten will go directly downstairs for their own worship service and class, and those from second grade upwards will go directly to church services. Smaller children have been asked to sit in front pews with their parents, so that they can better participate in the service.

After church announcements, the Rector will have a short instruction for the children, who then will have a processional to classes downstairs. Their classes will end at the same time church services do.

We saved our marriage -by inches!

"Bob is 2 inches shorter than I am. How can I be proud of a husband that size? Mamma never liked him... she's already paid for my divorce," complains Jill. Bob's side: "I was big enough for my wife till her mother got at her. She wouldn't like any son-in-law." In the March Ladies' Home Journal a marriage counselor tells what happened to Jill and Bob. Reckless Driver Pays Heavy Fine

A charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants made against William Kasbohm, Bark River, last summer, was this week reduced to reckless driving to which a plea of guilty was entered and Kasbohm fined $50 and ordered to pay court costs of $7.85.

Kasbohm was arrested by Michigan State Police July 21, 1952. Arraigned in the court of Justice of Peace Oliver C. Estenson, he pleaded not guilty. Before the case could be heard, Justice Estenson became ill, is still incapacitated, and the case was later transferred to the court of Justice A. T. Sohlberg.

Prosecuting Attorney Nick Chapekis Wednesday recommended reduction of the charge to which Att'y Robert LeMire, counsel for the defendant entered a plea of guilty on behalf of his client. Justice Sohlberg then imposed the $50 fine.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of James Huff who passed away one year ago today, Feb. 27, 1952:

We cherish the love you so willing gave,
Today we bow silently over your grave;
We whisper a prayer and leave a bouquet
We haven't forgotten today is the day.
We miss you husband and father dear,
Life is so lonely since you're not here,
How we loved you, bless your heart,
Sad was the day you had to depart.

Sadly missed by his wife, sons and daughters.

Career Guidance Survey Planned

A reference file for use in revising Gladstone high school's career guidance program is to be obtained through a survey conducted among professional, business and trades people of the area, it was announced yesterday by Sup't Wallace Cameron.

Faculty members named to the committee are John Norton jr., Wallace Strom, Norman Peterson, Conan Fisher, Carl Westerbach, the Misses Marie Sohlberg and Margaret Schenk and Sup't Cameron.

It is planned to obtain a list of the names of persons in various fields to whom students could be referred for personal interviews when they display interest in certain types of training.

NEILSON, HAS ANYONE ACTUALLY SEEN THE MONSTER THAT HAS THE NATIVES SO TERRIFIED!?
OH, YES... MY HOUSEBOY FOR ONE! AJALI!
I SEE HIM, MISTAH! LAK A GIANT SERPENT HE RISE OUT OF RIVER... WATER POURING OFF HIS BACK! FAR BACK ON HIS HEAD IS A SHARP HORN, BIG AS A MAN!
IF SUCH A MONSTER DOES EXIST, COULDN'T IT BE DESTROYED BY DEPTH CHARGES FROM A GUNBOAT?
TRIED IT. GOT A BOAT UP FROM BAMU TO INVESTIGATE, BUT THE CREATURE SANK IT! THEN POKED ITS HEAD ABOVE WATER TO GLOAT!

NO TRACKS, NO PROPERTY DAMAGE, NO HYSTERICAL PEOPLE... I CAN'T UNDERSTAND IT! I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO THINK!
NOT A TRACE OF A DINOSAUR ANYWHERE
WELL, I'M BEGINNING TO THINK THESE DINOSAURS ARE ALL IN YOUR IMAGINATION!
OH, YOU ARE, EH?
ALL RIGHT, LOOK AT THE LAB AND THEN GIVE US THAT AGAIN!

Snow No Problem In Colorado Town

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Snow may pile up to the eaves in this Western Colorado community, but the streets are always kept clear.

After each storm, the city's tank trucks rumble down to the Yampas hot springs, take on loads of 180-degree mineral water and vaporize the snow. They also tie up traffic for a time. The hot water sprayed on the snow stirs up a thick fog.

Trojans Entertain Baraga In Cage Windup Saturday

The St. Joe Trojans will ring down the curtain on the regular 1952-53 basketball season tomorrow night at Bonifas gym, facing the Bishop Baraga (Marquette) cagers with the opening tipoff slated for 8:30.

It is the final night of Upper Peninsula high school basketball action before district cage tournaments get under way next week.

Coach Tom St. Germain's cagers will be capping a season in which they have posted 12 victories against three losses. One of the defeats came in their last start against the Rapid River Rockets.

Trojan Starters

St. Germain today gave starting nods to Jim Gravelle and Dick Cass at forward posts, Dick Bryson at center and John Martinac and Bob Sendenburgh at guards.

In reserve the Trojans will have Dave Hirn, Jerry McDonough, Bill Maycunich, Dan Marsicek, Frank Mileski and Bill Lancour. Jim Zimmerman, front line reserve who has also seen starting action this season, has been ill with the flu for a week and will probably not be in uniform. Mileski and Lancour were moved up from the junior varsity squad last week and have not yet seen varsity action.

The game will be a preview of district Class C tournament action at the Negaunee Memorial gym. In that tourney the St. Joe Trojans are paired with Baraga of Marquette and L'Anse. Winner of the district will enter regional championship tourney action at Houghton's Michigan Tech gym the following weekend.

Will Not Be Seeded

In spite of the fact that the Trojans own the best of the records in the tournament, St. Joe will not be seeded in the drawings. In order to gain a seeded position a team must play at least five games in its own class. Of the 15 games played to date by the Trojans seven against Class D teams and one against a Class C quint.

The result will be that St. Joe will go into action the first night of the district tournament, with either Baraga or L'Anse drawing the bye into the finals.

Making their final home appearances in a St. Joe cage uniform Saturday night will be four seniors, Martinac, Sendenburgh, Gravelle and Marsicek.

Bee teams of the two schools will clash in a preliminary game starting at 7.

Game officials will be Ed LaCasse and Jim Short of Stephenson.

District Drawings At Stephenson To Be Held On Monday

STEPHENSON— Drawings for the Class B district basketball tournament to be held here next weekend will be conducted Monday at 4 p. m. (CST), it was announced this morning by George Endres, tournament manager.

Competing in the tournament will be Stephenson, Escanaba, Gladstone and Menominee.

Winner of the Class B district here will enter the regional tournament at Negaunee the following week.

F. J. (Red) Baker, who rode Jim Dandy to an upset victory over Gallant Fox in the 1930 Travers Stakes, is now a trainer.

Junior Hockey Tourney At Fairgrounds Sunday

The Escanaba Junior Hockey tournament playoffs will get under way Sunday at the fairgrounds indoor rink with action slated in two division.

The Midget and Juvenile League tourneys will start Sunday wit hthe Junior League playoffs set for later next week.

Action will get under way at 1 p. m. with the Wells Lions meeting the Northtown Eagles in a Midget League clash. The Southside Hurricanes were top-seeded and drew a bye. They will meet the winner of the 1 o'clock game for the league championship at 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

The Juvenile League playoffs will be run on Sunday also, with the Wells Lions facing the Southside Hornets at 2:30 and the Northtown Rockets meeting the Northtown Hawks at 4.

The Juvenile winners will clash at 8 for their league championship.

Trophies will be presented to the champions of each league. The junior hockey tournament is under the direction of the Escanaba city recreation department. Members of the Escanaba Hawks of the Northern Michigan Hockey League will assist with the officiating of tournament games.

With heavy action slated from 1 to 9:30 Sunday, a large attendance is expected at the fairgrounds exhibition building.

The junior hockey tournaments climax intense regular season action in which 150 youngsters from throughout the Escanaba area have been competing in league action.

Hermansville Upsets Perkins By 43 To 42

HERMANSVILLE—The Hermansville Redskins upset the applecart here last night, handing Coach Tom Gerovac's Central League champion Perkins cagers a 43-42 defeat in the season's finale for both quints.

It was a rough contest throughout with 26 personal fouls called on Hermansville and 17 on Perkins. LaCasse of Hermansville and Gene DeKeyser of Perkins were put out of the game in the third period after a brief tiff. Coach George Maule also lost Belanger and George Whitens on personal fouls. Belanger drew his fifth personal in the first period.

The teams traded leads throughout the game with the Redskins coming out on top at the end of the first quarter, 10-7. It was knotted at halftime 18-18. Hermansville regained the lead, 30-39, at the end of the third period and both teams bit for 13 points in the last quarter.

Hermansville led 43-40 in the final seconds of play and Perkins narrowed the final margin when Douglas Hackenbruch dropped in a pair of free throws.

A shuffled lineup paid off for the Redskins with three newcomers listed in the lineup. Perkins was held to only eight field goals when Hermansville hit 14 times from the floor. The visitors cashed in on 26 gift tosses.

The loss was only the fourth in 18 games for the Perkins quint.

Hermansville's 7-8th grade quint beat the Perkins juniors 39-32 in the preliminary.

Chuck Spieser Stopped On TKO

DETROIT (AP)—Arthur Wright, a lanky Detroit Negro, scored an upset TKO victory last night over Chuck Spieser, former Michigan State College NCAA champon, at the University of Detroit Fieldhouse.

Wright put Spieser on the floor at 2:56 of the fourth round of their bout on a card featuring the clash between Tommie Leedle and Pat Lowry.

The Detroit fighter floored Spieser in the third round for an eight-count and then opened a cut over the former Michigan State boxer's right eye.

When Spieser's eye started to bleed in the fourth, the fight was stopped.

It was Spieser's second loss in his brief professional career and marked the third time he suffered serious injury.

Brigham Young And Wyoming In Key Tilt

(By The Associated Press)

The Skyline conference basketball race zooms to a climax tonight at Laramie, Wyo., where defending champion Wyoming gets its last shot at the high-flying Brigham Young cougars.

BYU holds a half game lead over the Cowboys and a victory would put the Cougars over the hump in the drive for the title.

Some 10,000 fans are expected to fill the War Memorial Field House (at Laramie) for the climactic game.

Illini Set To Halt Indiana

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois is ready for an all-out effort Saturday night to spoil Indiana's perfect Big Ten basketball record and preserve a mathematical chance at the title.

A sell-out crowd of 6,905 will watch the big game at Champaign while thousands more will see it televised over a Chicago station (WGN-TV).

Indiana is on a record-shattering undefeated spree with 14 straight league victories.

The Hoosiers downed Illinois at Bloomington, Ind., earlier in the campaign 74-70 in two overtime periods. To beat Indiana Saturday the Illini must stop the scoring of Don Schlundt, 6-9 sophomore center who is averaging 26.2 points per game. Schlundt flicked in 22 against Illini in the first meeting.

One of Illinois' big advantages this time will be the home floor. The Illini have lost only three games there since 1949, but one was to Indiana, 83-72, in 1950.

In other games Saturday, Iowa plays at Northwestern, Minnesota at Michigan, Michigan State at Purdue and Wisconsin at Ohio State.

Fans who have seen Calumet's little goalie, Jim Kuusisto, in action may have wondered just how little he is . . . We checked at the Radar dressing room after Wednesday night's game here and got this answer: "Say he's just under five-five and weighs 120 pounds." . . . That's not much bulk in a hockey goal, but the little guy sure plays it to the hilt . . . Johnny Whittaker, veteran Radar wing, said Kuusisto suffered from polio as a youngster . . . He's just 20 years old.

* * * * *

Some of the keglers were talking about the 2-7-10 pickup made by Alice Turnquist which we mentioned in a recent column . . . One of the keglers called attention to something even more unusual . . . Clarence Zerbel not long ago picked up two such splits in the same game . . . One was the 2-7-10 and the other was the 3-7-10.

* * * * *

Somebody on the Soo Evening News sports desk will have a hard time living down a recent dandy that cropped up in the lead of a story on district basketball tournaments . . . The story started thusly: "Opponents for Sault area tennis teams in the coming district basketball tournaments will be selected today." . . . Huh?

* * * * *

And one of the top remarks in the humor department is credited to Dennis McGinn of this city . . . After the Rapid River-St. Joe cage game recently, Dennis commented: "No wonder those Rapid River basketball players are so good. Look at the fine athletic background they have." . . . When asked to explain further, McGinn quipped: "I coached there 30 years ago!"

Harnies Top Skinny's 58-51 In Revenge Tilt

Harnischfeger avenged its only defeat in City League play last night by tripping previously unbeaten Skinny's Bar 58-51 before a good crowd at the Junior High gym.

The victory moved Harnischfeger back into the top spot in the City League standings with a record of eight wins and one defeat. Skinny's dropped to second with a 6-1 record.

Skinny's tasted defeat for the first time after the Harnies had jumped off to a 16-7 first quarter lead. The gap was narrowed to 26-20 at halftime but the Harnies moved back to a 42-33 lead at the end of the third period.

A late spurt by Skinny's failed to shake the Harnie cagers who matched the challengers basket for basket in the final period.

Harnischfeger scoring was centered on three cagers with Orville Larscheid hitting 17, Bob Dufour 16 and Phil Creten 14.

Tom St. Germain, Skinny's center, took scoring honors with 23 points. He hit on six buckets and 11 of 12 gift tosses.

In the nightcap last night the Gladstone Marble Arms upset Al's Tavern 56-43 in spite of a 26-point total by Don Paulin for the losers. Cliff Gillis scored 10 and Gil Richards nine to lead Gladstone. Gladstone had a 22-8 lead at the end of the first quarter but Al's narrowed it to 24-22 at the half and it was nip and tuck the rest of the way.

In the opener Kessler's Bar beat Paper Mill 61-41 with Don Lewis and Bill Courneene hooking up in a scoring duel. Lewis led Kessler's with 25 and Courneene had 24 for the losers.

Eskymos Close Cage Season Here Tonight

The Escanaba Eskymos will bring the 1952-53 basketball season to a close tonight when they play host to the Kingsford Flivvers at 8:30 at the Junior High gym.

The windup tonight, preceding tournament action at the district level, will see Coach Burt Gustafson's Eskymos gunning for their ninth win in 16 starts for the current campaign.

Making their last home start for the Eskymos will be Fred Boddy, Dick Peterson, John Peterson, Paul Davidson, George Bartley and Con Michael.

Games Tonight

Nahma vs. Cooks, 7:30.
Garden vs. St. Ann's, 8:30.

GARDEN — Close contests and lop-sided scores marked opening round play in the Junior high basketball tournament here last night.

Nahma ran up the biggest score in defeating the Manistique 7th grade quint 52-17 with Groleau scoring 16 for the winners.

Dave Valentine hit 15 as St. Ann's of Escanaba nipped the Manistique 8th grade team 33-32.

Garden scored three points in overtime to defeat Engadine 23-22 after the regulation time ran out with the score tied 20-20. Ed Nedeau led Garden with 12 points.

In the windup game Cooks, led by Miller with seven points, defeated St. Francis de Sales of Manistique 27-16. Ranguette scored eight points for the losers.

All games were officiated by Richard Bonifas, Manistique.

Hawks Host To Aroused Portage Lake Saturday

Look out for the Portage Lake Pioneers tomorrow night.

That's the watchword in the Northern Michigan Hockey League after the defending champions and current league leaders took a 11-5 lacing at the hands of the Marquette Sentinels at Palestra last night before a record crowd of 2,818 fans.

The Pioneers invade Escanaba's fairgrounds rink Saturday night needing only one point to cinch the league championship. A win or a tie would do it for the bitter Pioneers.

Portage Lake will be at full strength for their engagement with the Hawks, no question about that. In the last meeting of the teams they were forced to settle for a 1-1 tie at Houghton's big Dee Stadium.

Tony Scores Five

Tony Bukovich, who scored all five of Portage Lake's goals in the losing battle last night, will lead his champions here Saturday night. With Bukovich will be be brothers Joe and Mike, Jackie and Bernie Ruelle, Fran Lowney, Ken Ruohonen, Johnny Vencato, Jim Shetney, Ross Cooney, Art Juntunen and Rudy Gemignani with Clyde Berryman in the goal.

Tony's scoring rampage last night gave him a 63-60 point edge over Marquette's Johnny Vasseau in the race for individual scoring honors, and the Portage Lake chief will undoubtedly be seeking to swell his total against the Hawks.

Escanaba's Northern Michigan Hockey fortunes have been up and down this season but the Hawks have turned in a pair of good games in their last two starts that may indicate good things to come in the late stages of the season.

Expect Huge Crowd

After their 1-1 tie at Houghton, the Hawks turned in their first home win over Calumet Wednesday night by a 7-5 margin. Joe Ricci starred with three goals and an assist against the classy Radars.

A new line with Mark Olson working with Bud Provo and Dave Serbinski produced one of the Hawk goals and proved effective against the Radars.

The Hawks could keep Portage Lake from clinching the NM crown Saturday night and a capacity crowd is expected to be on hand to back the Esky entry in its bid.

Opening faceoff is slated for 8:15.

Sentinels Belt Pioneers 11-5

MARQUETTE — Marquette's Sentinels handed Portage Lake one of its most convincing defeats in the Pioneers' history last night.

Playing before 2,818 paying customers, the Sentinels routed Portage Lake, 11-5, to keep the visitors a notch away from seizing their third consecutive Northern Michigan Hockey League crown.

Tony Bukovich was the only one able to beat Marquette's goalie Jim DeMarinis. He scored all five P-L goals, although one was an outright gift when a rebound shot struck a Marquette man's body and bounded over DeMarinis into the net.

The Jim Eady - Jim Swenor-Jerry O'Neill line found Marquette's fast ice to its liking and outskated the Pioneers in racking up six goals.

DeMarinis stopped 51 shots and Berryman 41. There were numerous near-misses in the fast and exciting game, kept under control at all times by Cy Clements and referee Fred Brunelle.

Verbal Punches Tossed By Baseball Managers

By JOE REICHLER

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—In this corner, fight—er, pardon—baseball fan, we have chirpin' Chuck Dressen, weighing 168 and wearing blue flannels. In the other corner, we have stout Steve O'Neill, weighing 240 and wearing white gabardines with peppermint stripes.

The beginning of a beautiful fued between Dressen of Brooklyn and O'Neill of Philadelphia appeared in the making today as the two veteran managers hurled bellicose blasts at each other.

It all began this way. O'Neill, from his training quarters in Clearwater, told several newspapermen that the National League Champion Dodgers would not repeat because they could not possibly defeat the second division teams 67 times, as they did last year. Steve also declared that the Giants and Cardinals, as well as his team, would continue to wallop the Brooklyn Bums.

"Never Again"

"Brooklyn will never—never, I say—have a year like last year," the grizzled campaigner predicted. "They beat the second division teams 67 times out of 87 games. That's the first time in all my years in baseball I ever heard of such a thing. It's impossible for Brooklyn to have another year like that. And if they don't where are they?"

O'Neill's roundhouse left and right caught Dressen flush on the chin although Chuck was 200 miles away in Vero Beach, but the dandy little skipper, a counter puncher from way back, rolled with the one-two and came back slugging.

"All I know," countered Dressen with a flurry of his own, "is that Mike Kelly, my old manager at St. Paul, once told me all you've got to do to win a pennant is to break even with the contenders and wallop the daylights out of those second divisioners. That was John McGraw's system and he won more pennants than any other manager, including O'Neill. Furthermore, O'Neill's club had the same chance against the second division teams as we had. As far as I know, the Phils played them the same number of games. Whose fault is it that they couldn't beat 'em like we did?

Played To Wire

"I seem to remember another thing. We played the Yankees right down to the final out in the final game before they beat us in the World Series last fall. And what about the Phillies in 1950 against the same Yankees? They haven't dented the plate yet, have they?"

Now dressen went in for the kill. He wound up with his haymaker and let go.

"Here's something else that will happen that hasn't happened," he said. "The Dodgers are going to win two pennants in a row. It's been a long time since a National League pennant winner repeated. That's just what we're going to do in '53. Tell that to O'Neill.

End of round one. Round two coming up?

White Sox Manager To Work On Tommy Byrne

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sportswriter

Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox, the patient president of Pitchers Anonymous, has tabbed control-wobbly Tommy Byrne as his No. 1 project for 1953.

Richards, who did an effective job of converting Saul Rogovin and Joe Dobson into front line hurlers, is going about the business of correcting some of the southpaw's mound flaws at the White Sox' camp at El Centro, Calif. If he succeeds, Byrne may well spark the Chisox to their first American League pennant since 1919.

"I've had daily sessions with Byrne since we began training," Richards said yesterday. "We're trying to pick out something that might help him—maybe stiffen his delivery or slip a slider into his repertoire."

Always Near-Great

Byrne, obtained from the St. Louis Browns last fall, always has been on the threshold of success but his wildness kept him from reaching the heights. He won 15 games for the New York Yankees in 1949 and 1950 but slipped to 6-11 with St. Louis in 1951. Last season he won seven and dropped 14.

While Richards was working with Byrne, Ferris Fain, Chicago's new first baseman, took time out from his first workout to predict the White Sox will "rip apart the pennant monopoly of the Yankees."

"I believe the White Sox have a fine chance to take the pennant," said the American League's 1952 batting champion. "We'll have one of the best defensive teams and our pitching also will be good. As a line-drive hitter Comiskey Park at Chicago is made to order for me and I should do all right there."

Coleman Big News

Another pitcher, Joe Coleman, was the big news in the Philadelphia A's camp at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Coleman, hampered by a shoulder ailment the past couple of seasons, reported he was in good shape and ready to help Bobby Shantz, Harry Byrd, Alex Kellner and the rest of Jimmy Dykes' mounds corps.

"My shoulder seldom bothers me," he said. "And besides I've learned how to pitch."

Coleman won 14 games in 1948 and 13 the following year. He pitched, without much success, for Ottawa and Savannah in 1952.

Outfielder Archie Wilson of the Boston Red Sox became the first serious casualty of the training season when he pulled a tendon in his left leg while sliding. He will be sidelined for 10 days.

Kluszewski Spiked

Another medical case was reported by the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa. First sacker, Ted Kluszewski, out for some time last year with an ankle injury, was spiked on the right hand. His injury is not serious, however.

Preacher Roe, Brooklyn's veteran southpaw pitching ace, worked batting practice for the first time and announced his arm is in fine shape. Arm trouble handicapped the Preacher last year.

Keith Little, 23-year-old rookie infielder, walloped five over the fence in the Detroit Tigers' batting drill. Manager Freddie Hutchinson also was impressed by the long-range hitting of catcher Matt Batts.

Tigers Set Intra-Squad Game, Batts Eyes No. 1 Backstop Job

LAKELAND (AP) — The Detroit Tigers are scheduled to play their first intra-squad game of the spring training grind tomorrow.

The Bengals went through another workout yesterday with long ball hitting drawing the attention of Manager Fred Hutchinson.

Hutchinson said he was impressed with the hitting of catcher Matt Batts who is out to secure the number one catching assignment for the 1953 season.

Batts who missed several months of the 1952 season because of stomach ulcers constantly rapped the ball in the spirited workout.

Rookie Looks Good

Keith Little, 23-year old rookie outfielder also drew praise from Hutchinson. Little swatted five balls over the fence in the batting drill.

Batts frankly admits this is his year to nail down the top Bengal catching position.

"It's now or never for me", the Texan declared, "Always, I've been No. 2. Now I'm out to be No. 1 and I don't see any reason why I can't be."

The Texan's rivals for the catching berth are Joe Ginsberg, who caught 113 games for the Tigers last year, and John Bucha, a 28-year-old minor league draft product from Rochester in the International League.

Hutchinson said no effort will be made to bolster the present catching trio.

"Can't Hit Worse"

"It's up to the three we have," he declared, "and I think they can do the job. Batts and Ginsberg can't hit any worse than they did and I believe Bucha will push them."

Batts hit .237 in 56 games—the lowest of his five year career in the majors.

Ginsberg slipped to .221 last year. Bucha hit .284 at Rochester. Batts said he wasn't discounting competition from Ginsberg and Bucha in his bid for the catching slot. He stated he just wants a chance to play.

Red Rolfe, ex-Bengal manager, used Batts chiefly against left-handed pitching. Batts said he wants a chance to hit right-handed hurlers.

"We see a southpaw about once or twice a week," Batts said, "how can anyone get started that way? Besides I had my best season in 1951 when I was hitting against both right and left handed pitchers."

Batts hit .285 for St. Louis in the 1951 season.

Sport Shorties

Michigan State's best record in basketball was the 16-1 mark posted in 1931 under Coach Ben Van-Alstyne.

Hector Cowan of Princeton was the first football coach at the University of North Carolina. That was in 1888.

The New York Giants hit 151 home runs during the 1952 season and 102 of them were hit in the Polo Grounds.

Essay Judging Now Underway

Ten top entries in an annual essay contest conducted by the Manistique VFW are now in the hands of judges, it is reported by Mrs. John Vaughan, essay chairman.

The contest, conducted on the theme, "Democracy Is What We Make It," is the third annual one sponsored by the local auxiliary and the 18th conducted on a nation-wide basis by the national auxiliary organization.

English classes of Manistique high school, grades 9 to 12, participated in the contest under the supervision of Marvin Frederickson, high school speech and dramatics director.

Over 300 students wrote essays which were submitted to teachers for faculty pre-judging. The 10 best essays selected by teachers have been turned over to three judges who are Miss Helen Havlichek, former teacher in Hawaiian schools; Dr. E. J. Brenner, and George Drew, lay minister at St. Alban's Episcopal church.

Eassays will be judged on the following point system: literary construction, 50 points; interpretative views, 25; patriotic inspiration, 25.

Local prizes offered by the auxiliary are as follows: First, $25 savings bond; second, $10; third, $5.

The winning local essay will be submitted in state competition and the top Michigan essay will be entered in the national contest. National prizes total $2,000.

Winner of the local contest last year was Robert Corson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Corson. Lael Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Richards, won the year previous.

10 Bowling Teams Entered In Annual U. P. Tournament

At least 10 teams, and possibly one or two more, will be entered from Manistique in the Upper Peninsula Bowling Tournament at Negaunee this year, it is announced.

Nine teams from the Brault league and one from the Elks have entered, it is reported.

Deadline for entering is midnight Sunday, March 1.

The tournament, the 43rd annual, will be held March 28 to May 17.

Negaunee had the U. P. tourney in 1934 at which time the Lundstrom Chevs from Manistique took top honors in team events.

Carlyon Discusses Aptitude Tests At Meeting Of Seniors

Detroit general aptitude tests taken last week by Manistique high school seniors were discussed by Stanley B. Carlyon, faculty member, at a senior meeting yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Evaluation sheets on which each senior could list his scores were furnished students. Comparison of the completed sheets with a table provided with the general test enabled students to ascertain their various occupational aptitudes.

Carlyon spoke briefly before students listed their scores and also discussed the evaluation of the tests after the sheets were filled out by seniors.

DOCTORS CHECKED FOOD

Physicians, in 700 B. C., were empowered to inspect the stock of food merchants and put any out of business if their stock was not up to par.

Elks To Conduct Student Bowling

Bowling for Manistique high school students, grades 9 through 12, will be started Sunday afternoon at the Elks alleys under the supervision of the Elks youth committee, it is announced by Alan Walter, chairman.

The program, to be conducted on successive Sundays until the conclusion of the bowling season, will be mixed bowling run in two shifts—1 to 3 and 3 to 5—with a maximum of 24 bowlers to each shift.

Cost per participating student will be 15c a line. The facilities of a coke and soft drink bar adjacent to the alleys also will be available.

Students desiring to take part in bowling are requested to register by 6 p. m. on Saturday with the Elks steward.

Only those actually bowling will be admitted to the building and alleys. No student spectators will be allowed, and bowlers on one shift will not be permitted to watch the other shift games.

Student bowlers must either bring their own shoes or roll in stockinged feet. Balls will be available at the alleys.

An Elks bowler will be stationed at each alley to provide any instructions requested.

E. J. Doyle, a member of the youth committee, will have supervision over the bowling.

Pakistan Police Curb Moslems

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan's government threw armed patrols throughout the city and arrested 10 leaders of the all-Moslem parties convention before dawn today, countering a threat of "direct action" to force the removal from the Cabinet of Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan.

The capital awoke today to find armed police and troops patrolling the city's streets, with public buildings and residences of Cabinet ministers under heavy guard.

The all-Moslem convention recently has threatened "direct action" against the government to implement their demands for the foreign minister's removal. He has been under attack in Parliament for many months as a result of discontent with the deadlock in the U. N.-sponsored negotiations between neighboring India and Pakistan over the disputed state of Kashmir.

Building Fund Tops $448,000

The Catholic Central High School building fund jumped to $448,052 Friday after the second report meeting of volunteer workers last night.

Unofficial figures, still being compiled at campaign headquarters, indicated an additional $47,966 was added to the Monday night report meeting total of $400,086.

A final clean-up victory celebration meeting is planned for late next week, at which time the breakdown of all pledges, by individual parishes, will be made public. The date, time and place of this meeting will be announced later.

The Reverend O'Neil D'Amour, campaign executive chairman, said it remains possible to go over the $500,000 minimum goal on the potential of pledges still unreported by various committee workers, and by the amounts it is hoped the campaign will realize through re-solicitation of some prospects.

Father D'Amour said there is a growing trend among committee members to increase the size of their pledges.

Eisenhower Answers Newsmen's Queries

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday it will be terrifically difficult to balance the federal budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

In his second news conference since taking office, the President also said:

1. This country would be put in a very difficult position if it tried to repudiate all international secret agreements made during World War Two.

2. He would meet with Premier Stalin or anyone else if he thought such a conference might lead to a lasting peace.

3. He personally does not believe Communists should be permitted to teach in the nation's schools.

4. He is not exactly sure he knows just what Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) is aiming at in the investigation of the State Department's Voice of America program.

5. He will meet Thursday at 10 a. m. (EST) with a group of governors, a congressional delegation and administration officials to study the possibilities of dividing the tax policies of the state and federal governments.

6. He does not believe Alaska has proved its case for statehood.

The president said the matter needs more study but that he feels Hawaii, on the other hand, is ready for statehood.

7. He does not see how universal military training could be put into effect as long as the nation has to rely upon the draft to furnish manpower for Korea. He called the Korean conflict a fairly major war.

8. He favors extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act but is not prepared at this time to go into detail regarding a possible modification of the law.

This second meeting of the President and newsmen drew another capacity crowd of reporters to the Indian Treaty Room of the old State Department where the conference was held.

At his first conference last week, Eisenhower first brought up subjects he wanted to talk about before opening the session for questions.

its widespread decontrol program.

The new measurement uses the 1947-49 period as a base—meaning that the price average for those years will be considered as 100 — instead of the former 1935-39 average. The new index was known workers, employ the government index for adjusting worker wage rates according to living cost changes.

However, the union and the auto firms have failed to adjust these "escalator" clauses to the index changeover and it appeared that the adjustment due to be made on March 1 would be delayed indefinitely.

Without a switchover in the government index, the auto workers probably would have taken a cent an hour pay cut, or possibly two cents an hour.

Dramatic Move Expected From Soviets In Berlin

would withdraw their troops from Germany.

2. Moscow might come up with a new set of demands for unification of East and West Germany.

Can Make Trouble

Unification is a political issue on which all Germans reportedly unite and which Russia and the Western powers all say they favor but under different conditions.

Experts here said there were other alternatives open to the Russians. For instance, they could make threatening new trouble over the Western zone of Berlin, which they have been progressively isolating from surrounding Communist territory.

Responsible officials here are inclined to doubt that the Russians would actually withdraw their occupation forces from Germany any time soon. They think that eventually the Russians will certainly pull out their troops. They also say privately that such action now would make a big impression on non-Communist Europe and probably bring on a relaxation of defense effort.

On the other hand, officials say Russia's position in Germany is a strategic and political fact of enormous value and something which the Soviets would never lightly relinquish merely as a move in the cold war.

Police Force Ready

Officials assume that the Russians have been training their East German police force, which the Western nations describe as a kind of military organization, to replace, eventually, the Red Army. At the moment it numbers only about one-third as large as the 300,000 Red Army force in East Germany. It has a fairly high desertion rate to the West, officials added, and it hardly seems likely that the Russians would now consider it a reliable basis of power in Germany.

If or when they do consider it reliable they would be able to move out of East Germany without risking their hold upon it or radically altering the balance of military power in Europe. They could simply pull their troops back into Poland where they would still be in striking position against the West.

Politically, however, even so cautious and safeguarded a rollback of Soviet military strength in Europe would probably be hailed in many quarters as a move in the direction of peace.

New Auto Tags Needed Sunday

LANSING (AP)—The Department of State warned Michigan motorists today they must have their 1953 license plates on their cars Sunday morning.

The department reported a heavy rush of applicants throughout the state and more plates sold than at the same time a year ago.

At the latest tabulation, 1,395,466 plates had been sold, 131,444 more than at the same time last year and a gain of 125,000 in the past week over the preceding year.

Detroit police said they will be set promptly at 12:01 a. m. Sunday to ticket drivers lacking 1953 license plates.

Farm Leaders Not Worried By Drop In Crop Income

ers gave me this story as a reflection of the general situation:

The farmers as a whole still can be considered prosperous. They built up a cushion of profit-fat during the good years which had the stimulation of war buying. They have liquid assets still in reserve. Their credit with the banks is good.

Started Months Ago

The price decline has been under way for months, falling a total of 12 per cent last year continued drops in most crops since Jan. 1. So even though the situation was born in a Democratic administration, it is the adopted child of the Republicans now and theirs to cope with.

Farmers had their best year in 1947. After paying production costs, taxes and other expenses they had a net income of $16,700,000,000. This net income had dropped to $14,200,000,0 in 1951 and it remained about the same last year because farmers had a record production year to offset declining prices.

The real pinch on the farmer has not been entirely in the fall in prices—but in the fact that the things he buys have not fallen in price proportionately. And he doesn't like to be the only group in the American economy to take the rap on price adjustments.

"We don't like to have a monopoly on adjustments," one farmer said.

Gamblers Hit Hardest

"We know farm prices have been too high and there had to be a leveling off. But a lot of other things are too high, too."

There is a great hope among farmers that the Eisenhower administration will squeeze some of the inflation out of the entire economy and thus bring more stability to the country, to the benefit of the farmer, among others.

Those heaviest hit in the farm belt appear to be the farmers who gambled — and lost — on cattle prices. These farmers bought cattle for feeding at high prices, taking a chance the price would stabilize before they sold them. Others hit hard were those who bought up cattle as a sideline to make a profit killing. The squeeze caught them before they could unload.

For the most part, however, it can be said the American farmer hasn't gone broke and he doesn't expect to as long as there is high employment at good wages for the people who buy his products.

But he wants assurance that the government will fix the rules so he'll have a fighting chance.
